

The Brands of Real Estate

REALTOR® Magazine's Residential Franchise Report is a biennial survey of real estate franchise companies operating in the U.S., introduced in 2003. To help broker-owners and agents who are considering affiliation options, we ask franchise companies to provide details about their business models and fee structure. We do not independently verify company-supplied information.

This year, we present the information in a more scannable way, based in part on feedback from a focus group of brokers convened last November. Information about fees charged has been reorganized for better clarity. Online, find more data and business-model differentiators in a sortable infographic. Access the whole package, along with previous years' reports, at realtorm.ag/franchise.
